A major must complete at least one one-unit course in Spanish during the senior year. It is recommended that students take two 300-level units taught in Spanish before or concurrent with enrolling in Spanish a literature course. It is highly recommended that all majors planning to teach take Spanish 341 as an elective which will satisfy a requirement in the Spanish Education major. Students can take one of the following courses taught in English that can count as an elective toward the major: HIST 272, HIST 273, POLI 225, LING 320 or another appropriately themed course approved by the Modern Languages department chair.
